JEWELRY OF A PRINCESS IN AFRICA -Dr. Livingston, in his recently published account of his voyage up the great river or Eastern Africa, says the sister of one of the chiefs wore eighteen solid brass rings, as thick as one's finger, on each leg, and three of copper under each knee; nineteen brass rings on her left arm and eight of brass and copper on her right; also a large ivory ring above each elbow, or seventy-one rings in all. She had a pretty bead neck-lace, and a bead sash encircled her waist. The weight of the bright brass rings, around her legs, impeded her walking and chafed her ancles, but as it was the tashion she did not mind the inconvenience, and guarded against the pain by putting soft rags around the lower rings.— So much for fashion.
